BIG LINER SAILS
Holding Up of Mail Bags at Plymouth Arouses Indignation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
London—There is likelihood of the immediate resumption of negotiations between employers and striking dock workers, says a favorable press association statement revealing that a secret meeting of employers has been called for this evening.
The Anglo-American business community is indignant over the holding up of 5,000 bags of mail from the United States at Plymouth, resulting in the American consulate being besieged by protests.
The Plymouth consulate informed Consul General Skinner today that the consulate's mail had not yet been moved from the trunks at the steamship docks, the postoffice taking the position that the bags were not yet in its custody and therefore disclaiming responsibility. As soon as the mails are placed on the docks the postoffice will push them to London, it was stated.
Difficulty is in attending the handling, postoffice and distribution of food held up by the strike. Another government would probably avail itself of the emergency powers act of 1920, under which it could take drastic action, using the police and soldiers if necessary, to safeguard the delivery of food. The labor party, however, is trying to repeal this act.
Determination to prevent profiteering was expressed by Home Secretary Henderson last night. He declared that if the unvarnished increasing of prices was not promptly stopped, emergency legislation would be enacted.

OLYMPIC SAILS AFTER

Southampton, England—The White Star liner Olympic sailed at noon today on schedule time, carrying a thousand passengers, including Sir Tamo Howard, the new British ambassador to the United States. The liner also carried 600 mail bags. Mail and luggage were loaded during the night by clerks substituting for the striking stevedores.

CASE CLEARED OF CHARGES

Chicago—Despite "confessions" by Mrs. Albert Leland on the witness stand that she misbehaved with her husband, the Rev. Carl D. Case, her husband was denied a divorce by Judge Charles C. Smith. Mrs. Case, who had been charged with adultery, was cleared of all charges by the court. The court refused to make any comment on the Rev. Mr. Case on the grounds "that the evidence had been too widely circulated already."

Chicago—Miss Minnie Flynn, 45 years old, a nurse of Beloit, Wis., who had come here seeking employment, was found dying in her room today. She died later in the county hospital supposedly of poison.
She came here last Friday and registered at a training school for nurses, where she was given a room. An unfinished note to her brother, John, of Beloit, indicated that she was terrified in so large a city and also stated that she had not found employment.
Miss Flynn was found unconscious by Miss Lella Leonard, who occupied an adjoining room. An empty bottle believed to have contained poison was found.

25 BILLION GOLD MARKS, VALUE OF GERMAN RAILWAYS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris—The French high military command opposes the abandonment of the Ruhr railroads to Germany, as provided for in the plan of the expert committee.
The French government has been advised that military occupation could not continue with security unless the Franco-Belgian military control of communications is maintained.
French and Belgian military forces occupied the Ruhr without opposition from the German railway men, who transported troops, munitions and supplies freely.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris—The German railways, against which the expert reparations committee are expected to recommend a mortgage of ten billion gold marks, are estimated to be worth 25,000,000,000 gold marks. This figure was reached through a study of the mass of technical information accumulated by the committee during their sittings in Berlin.
The capital value has been determined largely by the present condition of the railway system, which was found to be excellent. Almost all of the new lines have been re-halted since the war and the rolling stock is in good condition, being sufficient in the view of experts for five years.
It would not be possible, according to engineers' advice received by the committee, to replace the railways as they stand for 25,000,000,000 gold marks, and they yield a fair rate of interest on that basis.
The lowest estimate of any competent authority as to the value of the lines was twenty billion marks and the highest thirty billion marks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
St. Petersburg, Fla.—Frank McDowell, 18, was arrested by the police early today following the finding of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowell, shot through the heads at their home here. His parents had been shot as they lay in bed.
Young McDowell, who called the police, said that he had been struck on the head and rendered unconscious. When he regained himself he said that he found his parents dead.
The police found a pistol which the youth admitted was his property and they stated that shortly after McDowell had been taken into custody he had told several conflicting stories.

Decatur, Ga.—Marion, 18, and William, 16, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowell, who were shot and killed in St. Petersburg, Fla., were buried to death here about one year ago when trapped in a room in the McDowell home. The blaze has always been a mystery. Police officials stated at the time that gasoline was thrown through an open window into the girls' bedroom and ignited.

ELKINS, HOLDER OF OIL STOCKS, WILL TESTIFY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington—Senator Elkins, republican, West Virginia, said today that he had purchased stocks of the Standard Oil Company. The West Virginia senator visited the committee room today during the examination of Harry Payne Whitney, but was not heard. Members said if he were called it would be in an open session.
He added he was perfectly willing to go before the senate oil committee and tell all about it. His statement revealed that he is the senator whose name appears on the records of the Standard Oil Company. He was presented to the committee yesterday.

"I purchased the Standard stock without any knowledge with respect to the oil leases," Senator Elkins said in a statement. "I bought much more of Bethlehem Steel and other stock than I did of oil stock. I am perfectly willing to go before the committee, if they desire, and tell them about these transactions. There is no law against buying and selling stock."
"Many of my purchases were made solely on my own initiative or on advice of my brokers."
"If you stop buying and selling this country will have to stop. This whole thing is a political drive by the democrats but they will get the worst of it before it ends. Already William C. McAdoo has been mentioned prominently as has the late Franklin K. Lane and others."

Washington—President Coolidge was advised today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican senate leader, that there is a growing sentiment in the republican senate organization in favor of the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty. After Mr. Daugherty had publicly defied his critics in a formal statement, Mr. Lodge and Senator Pepper, republicans, Pennsylvania, went to the White House and talked over the whole situation with the president.

Washington—Attorney General Daugherty has reaffirmed to President Coolidge his determination not to resign under fire.
He visited the White House this morning, talked over the situation with the chief executive and returned to the department of justice, to dictate a statement affirming his decision to stay in the cabinet.
It was insisted by those close to the attorney general that he and the president had found themselves in complete accord.
White House officials were silent. They would not affirm or deny that the question of Mr. Daugherty's resignation had been discussed at the conference.

PROMINENT EAST TROY MAN SUICIDE

Will Clancy, Town Chairman, Kills Self With Butcher Knife.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
East Troy—Will Clancy, 55, former chairman of the Walworth county board of supervisors, committed suicide at 4 a. m. Wednesday, in the kitchen of his farm home, four miles north of here, by cutting his throat.

Two blood-stained butcher knives were found beside his body, indicating he had used the larger one after the smaller failed to snuff out life.

A special inquest was conducted by the justice of the peace when Coroner F. E. Mayer, Genoa Junction, was unable to come because of the snow. A verdict of suicide, brought on by insanity, was given. It is understood Mr. Clancy had been in financial difficulties and had suffered severe spells of melancholia, especially last Sunday.

Mr. Clancy was one of the most prominent men in Walworth county. He was town chairman, a position he had held for many years. He was a member of the county board and of the highway commission, and acted as his brother, Lawrence, is postmaster at East Troy.

Mrs. Clancy and two children, James, living on the farm, and Emma, assistant postmaster at East Troy, survive.

BARGE ROUTE FROM JANESVILLE URGED

Secretary of Illinois C. C. Waterway Committee Revives Navigation Talk.

Inc calculable sums could be saved the citizens of Janesville, Deloit, Rockford and other cities in the Rock river valley by the establishment of a barge line running direct from Janesville to New Orleans, decreasing the cost of shipping of the waterway committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, in a letter made public this week.

Stephen, who is urging that Rockford and other cities in the Rock river valley be given a barge line, holds that his idea is not a "fantastic dream," but one of a feasible realization. It is a revival of a project discussed for many years in this section.

"The United States government," says Mr. Stephens in his letter, "operates a barge line between New Orleans and St. Louis, connecting directly with railroads to interior points. Shippers save 20 per cent of a through rate by shipping over this combined rail and water route."

"Official reports show that during the first 11 months of 1923 shipments were made over this route into or out of every congressional district in 11 states north of the Ohio river. This barge line has freight connections with 165 railroads in 38 states."

Badger Cities Benefit

"These figures also show that during the first 11 months of 1923, 45 cities in Wisconsin saved money by using this rail and water route in shipping more than 13,000 tons of freight."

"The barge line also carries farm products, canned goods, feed, farm wagons, beer, bottled goods, mill goods, sugar, coffee, etc. Milwaukee alone shipped nearly 7,000 tons over this route."

"Deloit was the only city in Wisconsin of 10,000 population or more that did not benefit by the cheaper transportation of this rail and water route. Many cities in the state that did so benefit are much below 10,000 in population."

"Further, in the first congressional district in Wisconsin, Deloit was the only city of importance that was not included in the 11 cities in the district profiting by this rail and water route."

Saving on Sugar

"Again, Charles Wogan, general manager of the Consolidated Sugar company of New Orleans, testified before the United States senate a few weeks ago that in 1922 his company shipped from its refinery near New Orleans over 200,000 pounds of sugar at a saving of more than $71,000 to the consumers who pay the freight."

"Milwaukee received the second largest shipment of any city; nearly 11,000,000 pounds at a saving of more than $10,000 to the shippers who reflect this in their prices to the consumer."

"According to Mr. Wogan's report, 21 cities in Wisconsin received a total of more than 18,000,000 pounds of sugar at a saving of over $10,000."

"My point is this: if this government barge line, started as a war measure with practically no equipment, can, in five years, under the most discouraging financial and physical conditions, save to the people of Wisconsin thousands of dollars every year in lower transportation cost, the people of the Rock river valley can save incalculable sums with a barge line running direct from Janesville and Deloit to New Orleans without transfer to rails and without yielding to the railroads 80 per cent of the hauling cost."

A New Hotel for Janesville

Janesville is on the highway north from the southern states, and when the paved street from the Illinois border to Cairo is completed in the next year or so, we may look for a great travel from the far south. That is but one factor in the hotel need for the city. The demand for such a hotel has been persistent, pressing, consistent and emphatic for a long time. We need it for the ordinary travel which comes this way, for the hundred and one things that make a modern hotel a center of activity of community interest—a common meeting place, and a social center as well as for its general function as a hostelry. In fact there are so many reasons why we need a hotel that they are self-evident. Automobile travel has revolutionized the hotel business. In the early history of the country we had taverns scattered all along the highways. The traveler, either by horseback or stage, found a welcome at every hand. The old trunk lines of travel, the Boston Post Road, the National Highway from Washington to Lexington, Kentucky, and to Cincinnati and St. Louis, was lined with excellent taverns where weary travelers in these places of comfort and hospitality, relaxed. They all passed out of business and became old landmarks with a halo of legend and tales, good, bad and indifferent, surrounding them. Now we come back to a greater change in travel with the motor vehicle, and the hotel has again come into its own.

The plan accepted for financing the Janesville hotel project and the action taken by the promoters seem to have brought a solution of our problem here. Janesville is the Home of Hospitality; it will be more so when we have something to be more hospitable with.

Old General Debate, the great Fabian soldier, is now in command of congress.

We Are Talking of Advertising Wisconsin

We are talking of advertising Wisconsin, of painting the lily and perfuming the rose. Advertising Wisconsin! And spending money at that on the advertising of a state more advertised than any other in this union of sovereign commonwealths! Advertising Wisconsin! when every wind that blows from the national capital out to Teapot Dome or the sand barrens across the border from Tia Juana, advertises the state. Where are the eyes of the nation? On a ranch in New Mexico; on the intricacies of the Mellon tax reduction; on Mr. Bok and his greased peace prize; on the national conventions to come; on that shrinking violet, Mr. McAdoo; on the German reparations? No, sir, they are fixed on the Jagger state as represented in congress by her famous football eleven and their marvelous plays, running around the line, smashing the republican defense, and between quarters giving the spectators a thrilling performance on the aerial trapeze and the slack wire. Even Tia's tomb never had such advertising. It may be political, but it is advertising. Passing through the crowd sitting in the bleachers during the play, are the sellers of remedies for every known ill; pieces of legislation to make everybody rich and then to take what the rich have away after they have become rich. Why wake the world from its enraptured gaze fixed upon the portal through which Spotpussy, the Wisconsin gladiator, is momentarily expected to enter. Why talk of our cheese, our honey, our lakes and streams, our dairy cows and the richness of their cream and milk, of acres of beautiful and productive land yet untitled, of glorious sunrises and wonder paintings done by Omnipotent hands and appealing to every responsive soul? Out upon these sordid and mundane things! They smack only of the marts of trade and the music of the cash register. Unlike the political advertising we are getting, such methods as are suggested call for no rhetoric, no flights of forensic fancy, no pages in the congressional record. Once placed, such commercial advertising might not be able to keep out of the state those undesirable citizens who would spend money here or start some new industry to demand more legislation. No, sir, it will never do to tell the real story of Wisconsin and of her riches, never, so long as we have 11 oratorical volcanoes spouting political lava to make ashes of their enemies at Washington.

The democratic song on the tax bill is, "We garner them in."

Where the Saving Comes in.

When Janesville was considering the question of the city manager form of government, one of the reasons given for its adoption was that it tended toward a higher efficiency with less cost to the taxpayers. This has already been demonstrated by facts. We are now saving on two items alone at the rate of over $17,000 a year to the taxpayers of the city. The total of the salaries paid under the adjustment of departments of the city government, including Public Works, Finance, Health, Police and Fire departments, and the Plumbing, Building and all salaries of straight time city employees, for the month of January, was $3507.76. In the same month of 1923 one year ago, it cost the taxpayers $9,414.48. The saving on this item is $1,533.44 per month, or $9,800.64 a year. The labor payroll for the same month was $848, as against $1,597.17 in 1923. This includes snow removal, which as every one knows has been more efficiently done than heretofore; and is a saving in the month of Janu-

WOMEN AND EQUAL RIGHTS

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.
Washington.—The women of the United States, as represented by almost a score of national organizations that have headquarters in Washington, are agreed that they want equal legal as well as equal political rights. There are certain discriminations against their sex which they want removed.

They are not, however, agreed as to the method of securing equal rights. One group, identified as the Women's Party, which is sometimes referred to as representatives of the extreme feminist movement in this country, has espoused an amendment to the Federal Constitution which would write into the nation's organic law these words: "Men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Joint resolutions for this amendment, popularly known as the "Lucretia Mott Amendment," were introduced by Senator Curtis and Representative Anthony, both of Kansas, in the respective bodies shortly after the present session of Congress was opened, and a fight is on which promises to become almost as interesting if not quite as spectacular as the contest for the suffrage amendment. For it happens that various other groups of women, numerically much stronger than the Women's Party, are unalterably opposed to the amendment and are insistent that the resolutions must not be reported favorably in either the senate or house, lest they must be voted down in event they should be so reported.

"This amendment which will, I believe, end forever in our country, in so far as the law can do so, all discrimination against women because of sex, seems to me of greatest importance to women all over the United States," said Senator Curtis, in offering his resolution. "To my mind it is the logical conclusion of the suffrage struggle, seems to me a wasteful procedure to go on securing the equal rights of women, in this movement, when we can adopt again the full and complete amendment in the suffrage fight, when the suffrage organizations concentrated on the passage of a federal amendment that would write that principle forever into the highest law of our land."

The proposed amendment is of the character described as blanket legislation. Its adoption, according to the Women's Party, of which Mrs. C. H. Belmont is president, and Miss Alice Paul is vice president, would be a short cut toward winning for all women equal control of their children, equal control of their property, equal control of their earnings, equal right to make contracts, equal citizenship rights, equal inheritance rights, equal control of national, state and local government, equal opportunities in schools and universities, equal opportunities in government service, equal opportunities in professions and industries, and equal pay for equal work.

The hearings which have been held before a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee, Senator Ernst, of Kentucky, presiding, the arguments for the amendment are substantially those epitomized by Senator Curtis, and by Representative Anthony. The latter said that instead of spending generations wiping away one discrimination against women in this state, another in some other state, and knowing all the time that these gains are not necessarily permanent, do this to adopt a constitutional amendment which is "concise and direct and will establish what I have been brought to feel a democracy should establish—equality for men and women in all fields."

Opposition to the amendment comes from such organizations as the National League of Women Voters, of which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is president and Mrs. Maud Wood Park is vice-president; the National Council of Women; the General Federation of Women's Clubs; the American Federation of Teachers; the National Council of Catholic Women; the National Council of Jewish Women; the National Women's Trade Union League; the American Federation of Labor and all the labor unions in which women are members.

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Ohio, the vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Emily Newell Blair, occupying a similar position in the Democratic national organization, who may be said to be the two leaders of women in partisan politics, have also gone on record as opposed to the amendment. They have both told the senate committee that in their extensive travels over the United States, meeting respectively, thousands of republican and democratic women voters, they have found practically no sentiment for and almost no supporters of the suggested constitutional change.

Mr. Charles L. Swift, of the National Council of Women, told the committee that her organization alone represented more than eleven million women who are against the amendment. These opponents of the blanket legislation, who include many women who were in the forefront of the campaign for the suffrage amendment, advocate specific laws to deal with specific discriminations against their sex and insist that there is no difference between actual equality of men and women citizens and members of society and legal equality. They say that the proposed amendment is ambiguous at best, and would result in endless litigation to determine what the courts would hold to be "equal rights." This would be in effect a delegation of the legislative power to the judiciary.

However, the one overwhelming objection to the amendment, in the minds of those who are fighting it, is that it might or would nullify all the progressive laws for women that have been enacted in the various states during the last half century. The best laws for women during the last half century, they say, is to the effect that the adoption of the amendment would virtually erase from the statutes all laws that safeguard women in industry and in society in general, or render their validity so doubtful as to make them impossible of enforcement pending a long period of court controversy.

All existing labor laws for women, such as 8-hour and 9-hour laws, minimum wage laws, laws prohibiting night work, and laws aimed especially to guard the safety and health of women workers, would be jeopardized if not actually swept away, and mothers' pension laws in 40 states would also probably be invalidated.

These women, in brief, are afraid of the short cut to "equal rights" although they want equality in every sense of the word. They say that it may take much longer after they want equality in a state at a time, but that to do so will be to conserve immeasurably better the general interests and welfare of women. The amendment is unnecessary, they argue, because congress and the states already have power to do what the amendment purports to do.

Illinois reports another steel storm. Len Small must have been talking again.

BOYHOOD

We were walking, Bud and I, When the rascal chanced to spy Another little fellow with a pretty little miss; To my shame and my disgrace, With a grin upon his face He started in to taunt them with a line of talk like this:

"Hello, Jimmy! Got a girl, With a pretty little girl, Jimmy's got a sweetheart and his brain is full of mush! Look at Jimmy out with Winnie, And she's bow-legged and she's skinny!" Then I caught him by the shoulder and I whispered to him: "Hush!"

"Hush," he shouted, "Jimmy kissed her! And she's going to have a blister! Jimmy's got an avuncular and I'm going to tell her name. As a bean-hole she's a daisy, And she's cross-eyed and she's crazy!" And he greeted me with laughter when I said to him: "For shame!"

You may think such talk is brutal, But I answer you, it's futile To attempt to teach politeness to a small boy's school course. More of it, physiology there, too, to neutralize the physiology which the layman has crammed down his throat on all occasions.

I'm warning up for the proper first aid management of a case of frostbite. Let's play you've coddled your feet for years until you're pretty soft, and now being caught outdoors without your complete heating apparatus on a snappy day you're frozen stiff with the cold, then all of a sudden, and somebody noticed how blanching and white it looked. The traditional or almost classic thing to do, of course, is to rub it like everything with snow. But let's suppose it is such a mild winter that there is no snow handy. Wouldn't that be a dreadful predicament, indeed? Frostbite, you see, I suppose it would, but practically it would be all right. No snow is necessary. No cold is necessary. Just use some petroleum jelly or cold cream or sweet oil or anything that will serve as a simple lubricant, and gently knead and massage the ear or cheek until the blanching disappears and the color and heat return. But let's suppose it's not enough and you rub just a little too much and you're in trouble. Then you're aiming to prevent.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON

AN EXTREME CASE

Oh, Dr. Cough, I've caught you. (I'll tell it to you in verse.) And every day, in every way, It's getting worse and worse.

The patient does not gain in strength, But weakens right along, And just to think, once on a time, This patient was so strong.

This patient seems to be all through, And surely would be thankful You kindly if you'd only treat— My balance in the bank.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1924.

Once more comes an unlucky day in February, if astrologers wisely read the skies. Uranus, Jupiter and Saturn are all in malefic aspect.

Uranus is in a place believed to arouse discontent and to cause suspicion of human motives, even when they are honest.

Jupiter today holds a sway that is unfavorable to buying or to mercantile pursuits. The business judgment may be unreliable at this time and for this reason there should be no ventures of any sort.

Saturn has power today, the seers declare, to foment unrest among workers and to encourage them to strike or to make new demands. The clash between old ideas and new may be apparent in every walk of life during the coming months, for radical opinions will be freely expressed.

Power for labor is indicated by the stars and the seers prophesy that the workers will attain high place in the world of politics and finance. All the signs appear to prefigure a complete reversal of old social conditions and the final passing of the old order and attendant aristocracy.

The signs are certainly menacing for the King of England who is subject to an unfavorable aspect of the Sun and Venus. Mars coming to a square aspect with the sun is not at all encouraging.

There is an aspect held lucky for minor art efforts, for dealers in women's wear and for dramatic or musical entertainments.

Success for independent theater movements is forecast by the stars who prophesy that the West and South will achieve distinction.

Death of a presidential candidate belonging neither to the West nor to the South is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid all changes and all efforts to make money quickly. The year may be unsettled but profitable.

Children born on this day may be extravagant and doleful of frequent change. These subjects of Pisces are often endowed with something akin to genius which is likely to disturb practical parents.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

FROSTBITE

There is as much misunderstanding about the management of frostbite as there is about the significance of the skin or discoloration of the skin by frostbite. A reader sent me the following pronouncement of a physician who opined that the stain from some gold jewelry signified a dirty skin and the remedy was more time and effort in the bath tub.

But any school boy who has studied a little chemistry—and every school boy ought to study chemistry—knows how ridiculous the doctor's notion is. For some of the best gold will discolor or stain the skin of a very best people. If the gold alloy happens to contain some silver, say, which reacts with the sulphur compounds in the skin, the sweat of a healthy individual to form silver sulphide. That's what happens to silver tarnished by egg-yolk. More need of little chemistry in the common school course. More of it in the physiology there, too, to neutralize the physiology which the layman has crammed down his throat on all occasions.

I'm warning up for the proper first aid management of a case of frostbite. Let's play you've coddled your feet for years until you're pretty soft, and now being caught outdoors without your complete heating apparatus on a snappy day you're frozen stiff with the cold, then all of a sudden, and somebody noticed how blanching and white it looked. The traditional or almost classic thing to do, of course, is to rub it like everything with snow. But let's suppose it is such a mild winter that there is no snow handy. Wouldn't that be a dreadful predicament, indeed? Frostbite, you see, I suppose it would, but practically it would be all right. No snow is necessary. No cold is necessary. Just use some petroleum jelly or cold cream or sweet oil or anything that will serve as a simple lubricant, and gently knead and massage the ear or cheek until the blanching disappears and the color and heat return. But let's suppose it's not enough and you rub just a little too much and you're in trouble. Then you're aiming to prevent.

For the use of cold in the relief of frostbite, there is absolutely nothing but tradition to support that idea. Perhaps it grew out of the observation that a little too much water in the water of a wet foot seemed to bring on inflammation or something. There is the danger of overdoing the thing—abrasion of the skin and infection and a subsequent inflammatory reaction. The first rule in the first aid for frostbite is, don't get excited. Keep cool—but don't freeze to death. There is no advantage in overdoing the thing in that direction either.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

ADDRESSING the closing of the women's state bowling tournament, the largest of its kind in the world, Oscar N. Nelson, manager of the local chamber of commerce, praised the participation in healthful recreation. He said he hoped they would continue in sports which would bring them into contact with other activities, such as baseball. "You will help the community if you will," he remarked, "for all those things in which you take part are of value to it. It is a wonderful thing to have the active head of the chamber back of clean sport here and send for with the help of his organization. Janesville is on the way to being a great city. There is no sport of any kind like that in which the people of a city take part for their own entertainment and their own physical good."

Minnesota hockey team beats Michigan in Big Ten game, 2-0.

BASKETBALL, BUBBLES

While the basketball game in the Big Ten basketball race, and Chicago and Purdue tied for second place, there will be some bitter battles when Chicago plays Indiana, Michigan meets Purdue, and Wisconsin travels to Ohio State, Saturday. Badgers, Wolverines, and Maroons will be away from home against tough foes and their positions are threatened. Ohio State has come to front because of sudden shooting power of Captain Miller and Cunningham, and stands chance of selling Wisconsin a few more. Chicago seems tired from its heavy tilt with Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, while Purdue is awaiting order of victory for the revenue for defeat handed them Saturday night at Ann Arbor. Whitewater normal loses to La Crosse, 15-12.

National track games called off this year to facilitate selection of Olympic material.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

Charles Leducx won the lightweight championship of France and Europe, beating Edouard Macart (20). Salt or Freedom awarded judges decision over Bobby Barrett at Philadelphia. Mike Courtney, welterweight, title holder, and Joe Lynch, bantam champ, restored to good standing and title recognition by New York state commission. Joe Azzorella, Italian who is to fight K. O. Mueller on window of end in Janesville stock pavilion Thursday night, arrives here to complete training. He charges with vodka with scorpions and has been getting another death wallop in New York.

Big Ten to play 53 football games next year.

The world's largest women's bowling tournament opened here Tuesday night, with the Bower City bank team rushing into first place of the booster division with a great score of 1901. Brief exercises marked the start of the fifth annual classic when Oscar N. Nelson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce made the address of welcome, praising the Janesville girls for taking part in healthful recreation and urging them to continue along other lines during the summer. He was introduced by Mrs. Oliver Gleason, Janesville, president of the Wisconsin Women's Bowling Association. Instructions were given the women by Mrs. Jean Knepprath, Milwaukee, state secretary.

During his talk, Mr. Nelson gave out the information that the 1924 badger women's meet is the largest in the world. Its entry of 112 five-women teams is five more than took part in the national meet last year. Nelson made a record when he opened the meet by collecting a strike in his first ball.

Going into first place, the Bower City bank team, composed of 665, 636 and 650. Miss Barbara Schlater was high three games with 397, with one game of 154. This was the top of the night.

Janesville women roll again Wednesday night. The out of town invasion starts Thursday night, when two squads, each of 12 teams, come here from Madison. They are expected to make things hum and start the big scores falling.

Italian Mauler Comes to Town for Fight Show

Down to weight and in the pink of condition, Joe Azzorella, who is to meet K. O. Mueller in the window of the Southern Wisconsin Boxing association's show at the stock pavilion at the fair grounds here Thursday afternoon, reached Janesville Tuesday afternoon. He was accompanied by his manager, James Lohr, who recently returned from Cincinnati. Azzorella started tapering off at the old high school gymnasium Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. This fight means much to Joe, a clean-cut looking chap. He is seeking a match with Patsy Flannagan at East Chicago and with Stewart McLean.

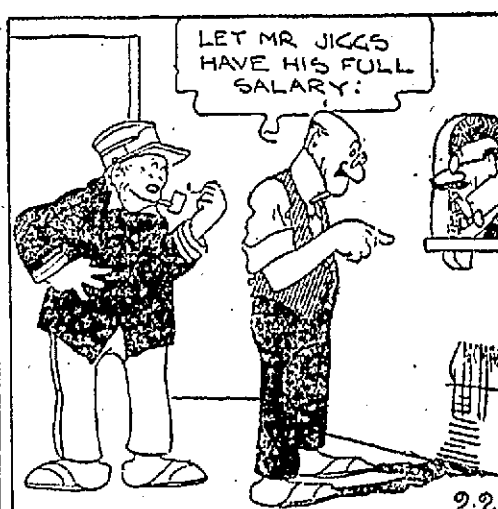

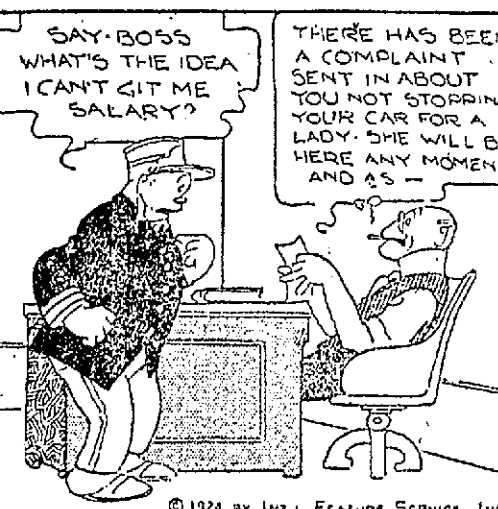

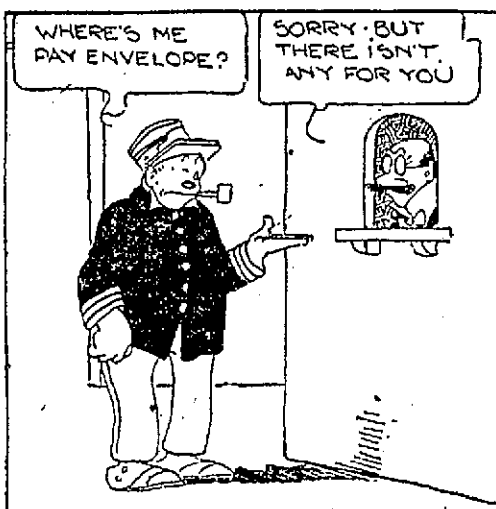

As an amateur, Azzorella won a judo championship in 1919, a boxing champion of Wisconsin's best. He met Jawson a little later as a professional and won on a foul. In another clash the Italian lost. His recent showing was a spectacular victory over Stanley McBride, that won him wide praise.

The rest of the scrappers are to reach here Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. The Rockford men on the card are expected to reach here in time for weighing in process at the city hall Thursday afternoon.

WHERE IS MORAN?
Milwaukee.—Indications are that the Pat Moran-Johnny Mondelsohn bout, scheduled for Feb. 23 will not be held. Mondelsohn is ready, but Moran, who has changed his mind several times, is lost. The boxing commission has ordered Moran to report here not later than next Friday. He has not replied.

The present membership of Janesville Walton chapter is 263. It is announced by Secretary W. E. Hyzer.

Horicon Boosters in Address Here

Talking exception to what he called shifting tactics by E. R. Jones, drainage engineer of the University of Wisconsin, Louis Radke, secretary of the Horicon Marsh chapter of the Frank Walton league, spoke Tuesday night at the Horicon chapter, Tuesday night. He asserted Jones spoke at the state convention of the "likes" in favor of restoring Horicon lake, and has since taken a different attitude. Mr. Radke traced the history of the marsh and outlined its present conditions of lack of game and fish.

A delegation of 10 attended the meeting from the Beloit Walton chapter and invited Janesville to a Moose dinner there next Tuesday. Wild life moving pictures were shown.

The Janesville city bowling league will get back into action on the Grebe & Newman alleys next Tuesday night. It is announced by Otto Plank, president. The circuit will finish up the last round of its schedule, which was postponed for the duration of the state bowling tournament.

OPPOSE FISH LAW.
The Janesville "Ices" have gone record as opposed to the provision in the fish and game laws of Wisconsin that charges catfish over 20 inches long as rough fish. They point out that carp seiners are allowed to keep catfish over 20 inches and sell or dispose of them as they see fit.

Such popularity must be deserved

TO BE singled out for public honor, a man must have proved his quality. And to be chosen by millions, even a cigarette must have "made good."

So Chesterfield's swift rise to popularity is more than a measure of success. It is proof positive of finer tobaccos—which means better taste.

And better taste is the sole reason for Chesterfield's huge sales.

The Best Thing About the Classified Section

Is a great, big, eager crowd of opportunity-seeking eyes!

And the reason that this is the best thing about it is self-apparent. It is because this section's specialty is to disclose opportunity.

No matter whether you believe in ordinary "signs" or not--you're bound to believe in the alphabetical and numerical classified "signs," which conduct you through these columns to the exact offer you want and need.

It is the systematic arrangement of these offers which makes opportunity so easy to find. It's just as simple as saying, "A-B-C" or "One-two-three." It isn't a bit trying to your eyes or your patience!

There is no legitimate reason why you should complain that opportunity is always beyond your reach. Keep your eyes upon the A-B-C Classified Section and opportunity will be right before you--all the time!

ARNDT TO LEAD TANKS 3 MONTHS

New First Lieutenant in Charge When Grimschaw
Goes East.

Following his promotion to first lieutenant, Henry B. Arndt will be in charge of the thirty-second division tank company, Janesville, during the three months' absence of Captain Peter Grimschaw in the tank corps school of the United States army at Camp Meade, Maryland.

Capt. Grimschaw leaves Janesville Friday to start his training course, during which time he will have the same ranking as a captain in the regular army. Mrs. Grimschaw is expected to join him when he finds a place to reside.

Lieut. Arndt has been with the tank corps four years and was a member of Company "M" overseas.

Other new officers who successfully passed examinations are Herbert R. Starker, first lieutenant; Emerson Jackson and Lawrence Wright, second lieutenants. All three were formerly sergeants. Two of the places filled were caused by the resignation of Lieut. Arup Fonnas last September and Lieut. John Thiele, who resigned last month.

The tank corps is seeking members. It has 72 enlisted men on its rolls. Last week there were but four absent without excuse, and two of these were out of the city.

Chester White Average Was $38

An average of $38 a head was obtained at the Butts and Babcock Chester-White swine sale held in Evansville on February 13. The top gilt was purchased by Roy Miller, Juda, for $32.50. J. M. Fargo, representing the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, purchased the next top gilt for $75. Number three of the same litter was purchased by Dr. C. S. Ware, Evansville for $65. A Shepard, Elkhorn purchased the fourth gilt of this prize litter for $60.00.

Wayne Lewis, Evansville, and Dr. C. S. Ware, also from Evansville, were the most liberal purchasers, the former getting five and the latter seven head.

D. A. Heberlein was auctioneer. The Butts and Babcock sale is one of the best swine auctions held in Wisconsin this winter. A good sized crowd of Chester-White breeders

Suit Lincoln Wore When Shot Sold at Auction for $6,500

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Philadelphia—Clothes worn by Abraham Lincoln when he was assassinated in Ford's theater, Washington, by John Wilkes Booth, on Tuesday were sold at public auction here for $6,500.

They consisted of an old black suit, the collar stained with the life blood of the martyred president, the trousers wrinkled, a badly worn overcoat and a faded silk stock.

Bidding opened at $500 and rose rapidly to the sale price, when the lot was knocked down to a bidder who gave his name as Mr. Douglas.

The back and arms of the overcoat had been clipped by souvenir hunters, but the dark silk lining, with the figures of two American eagles and the motto "one country, one destiny," was intact.

The garments were originally presented by Mrs. Lincoln to Alphonso Dunn, a White House door-keeper, of whom the president had been fond, and who had been his constant companion during his years in Washington.

CHRISTIAN'S NAME TO BE WITHDRAWN

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Washington — The nomination of George B. Christian, Jr., former secretary to President Harding, as a member of the federal trade commission, is expected to be withdrawn from the senate by President Coolidge shortly. Mr. Christian himself has requested it, because of opposition that has developed.

Christian complaining doesn't make a hard lot any softer.
